

THE RYBCZYNSKI PRIZE 2023

Entry Form (terms and conditions overleaf)

Name of author:

Address for Correspondence:

Tel:

Work

Home

Fax:

e-mail:

Names of any joint authors:

Has the entry, or any version of it, been published or is it going to be published?

YES

NO

If "yes" please give details (including date of publication).

Declaration to be signed by author and all co-authors:

I (we) submit this entry for the Society of Professional Economists' Rybczynski Prize 2023. I (we) confirm that it is my (our) work and that any quoted findings or assistance from other sources are duly acknowledged. I (we) have read and accept the terms and conditions as set out overleaf and agree to abide by them. In the event of the entry winning I (we) agree to give the Society of Professional Economists permission to reproduce the article, including by electronic means.

Signature of Author:

Signature(s) of Co-author(s):

Date:

Terms and Conditions of entry for the Rybczynski Prize.

1. The Rybczynski Prize will be £5000, awarded to the author whose entry is judged the best by the Council.
2. The judges will be looking for high quality writing on an important real-world economic issue which merits wide attention among professional economists. The style of the piece should make it accessible and interesting to an economically literate business audience.
3. The Prize will be decided by the SPE Council with assistance from specialist readers where appropriate. The Council's decision is final. The Council has the right not to award a prize if it judges that no entry is of adequate standard.
4. The winner of the Rybczynski Prize will be published, or republished with accreditation to the original publisher, on the SPE website. A synopsis may be published in the SPE Newsletter. The SPE reserves the right to reproduce the short-listed entries at its discretion.
5. The Prize will be awarded at the 2023 SPE Annual Dinner. The author(s) of the final shortlisted entries will be invited to the dinner as guests of the SPE.
6. Entries must be in English and in typed or printed form. Photocopies will be accepted.
7. The preferred length is 3000 words with a maximum length of 4000 words. Charts and tables are welcome but extensive use of algebra or footnotes is discouraged.
8. The work may already be published or be original. Specially written shortened versions of longer works will be considered solely on their own merits.
9. Entries should not have been published before 1 January 2022, i.e. this is a prize for work written and/or published between the start of calendar year 2022 and the closing date of the competition.
10. Only one entry per author is accepted. The winner of last year's Prize will not be eligible this year (but will be in future years).
11. Joint authorship is accepted and the prize will be divided equally.
12. Entries must be received by the SPE by 31 July 2023. They may be sent in one of the following ways:
  - By mail (enclosing four hard copies) to SPE, Dean House, Vernham Dean, Andover, SP11 0JZ
  - By email to admin@spe.org.uk
  - Uploaded via the SPE website at www.spe.org.ukThe SPE will issue a receipt for each entry. This alone will be taken as proof of entry.
13. All entries must be accompanied by an entry form. For entries by hard copy or email the entry form can be downloaded from the SPE website at www.spe.org.uk. For entries uploaded via the website the online entry form must be completed.
14. By completing this entry form the author(s) confirm(s) that the SPE may reproduce (including by electronic means) the article in the event it is shortlisted/is a winning entry.
15. The Council reserves the right to waive any of the above rules if it deems appropriate.
16. The Prize is not open to members of the SPE Council or their close relatives.